

Vortrag

Language policy in Kazakhstan and the role of the Russian language

Lecture by Erasmus+ Guest Scholar

Prof. Zeinekhan Kuzekova

Language policy is an important component of national state building in the new post-Soviet states. In the former Soviet Republics language policy was implemented in different ways. For example, titular languages have a long history of development in the Baltic States, Georgia, Azerbaijan and Armenia. In the early years of Kazakhstan's independence, the authorities began to implement a language policy aimed at the development of all languages of citizens of Kazakhstan. The Russian language is also used in the field of document circulation, the provision of state, legal, economic and cultural correspondence. What is situation in everyday life?

Prof. Zeinekhan Kuzekova (Nazarbayev Universität) is a Professor at the Kazakh Language, Literature and Culture Department. She holds doctoral degree in Kazakh language from Al-Farabi Kazakh National University. Prior to joining NU, Zeinekhan has chaired the Department of the Practical Kazakh Language at L.N. Gumilyov Eurasian National University, worked as an Associate Professor at the Department of General Linguistics and Kazakh Philology and Associate Professor at the Department of Modern Oriental Languages at Al-Farabi Kazakh National University.

Venue: Invalidenstraße 118, R 507

Time: Thursday, 13 June, 5 p.m.

The lecture is designed for students and the interested public. Guests welcome.

INSTITUT FÜR ASIEN- UND AFRIKAWISSENSCHAFTEN
ZENTRALASIEN-SEMINAR

Vortrag

Bilateral relations between Kazakhstan and Mongolia

Lecture by Erasmus + Guest Scholar

Dr. Yermek Adayeva

Dr. Yermek Adayeva (Nazarbayev Universität) is instructor at Kazakh Language, Literature and Culture Department. She has accomplished her PhD studies in literature at the Al-Farabi Kazakh National University. Her research experience includes issues of culture and literature as well of intercultural relations.

Venue: Invalidenstraße 118, R 507

Time: Thursday, 13 June, 6 p.m.

The lecture is designed for students and the interested public. Guests welcome.