„Mongolian Entrepreneurship in the Global World“

Where are Mongolians today in terms of global economy? What was the position in the past and where Mongolia is heading in the future? How relations between China and Mongolia have changed from defense through the Great Wall to the concept of peaceful coexistence? The history of the Silk Road dates back to approximately 2,200 years. The Silk Road was stopped due to political events of the 20th century. It is possible that the revival of the Silk Road, which is going on since 2012, can become a key opportunity for Mongolian Entrepreneurship.

Let us try to give some feedbacks for the above mentioned questions. I have an experience of at least 23 years of trade and transport logistics. The processes of discovering, planning and acting - that's what I have to do to survive and to accomplish my tasks. I spent more than 16,000 hours in airplanes. That means I traveled from the Islands of Malaysia to Yakutsk in Sakha, from Lijiang in Yunnan, to Dalanzadgad in the Gobi desert, from Nagoya to Phoenix, from Ulsan in South Korea to Teheran and from Doha to Rotterdam etc. I started trading simple matches, followed by thousands of tons of commodities. I'll share my experiences and opinions and try to deliver conclusions about the future of an Mongolian entrepreneurship in a globalized world.
